

JUDGE PARKER

Indorsed by New York Dem- ocrats for President

Empire State Will be a Unit for the Eminent Jurist.

Resolutions Indorsing Parker and Adopting the Unit Rule Passed by the New York State Convention as Predicted in Advocate Dispatches Monday.

Albany, N. Y., April 19.—The Democracy of New York favor the nomination for President of the United States of that distinguished Democrat and eminent jurist of our own state, Alton Brooks Parker, and the delegates selected by this convention are hereby instructed to present and support such nomination at the approaching national convention.

"That the said delegates are hereby instructed to act and vote as a unit in all matters pertaining to said convention; in accordance with the will of the majority of the said delegates, and the said delegates are further authorized to fill any vacancies which may arise from any cause in said delegation, in case of the absence of both the delegate and alternate."

This is the resolution by which the Democracy of the Empire State instructs its 78 delegates to St. Louis to vote for Judge Parker. It sent greetings to the Democrats of the other states of the Union last night in a convention which, while it was divided, voted more than two to one for instructions for Judge Parker, after a session which was characterized by vigorous speeches for and against instruction, but by no bitterness of expression that will leave a lasting wound.

The convention all day long hung on the attitude of Tammany. Unceasing efforts were made to make such concessions as would bring Charles F. Murphy and his followers into line to vote for instructions. Much of the all details of the situation. Mr. Sheehan is also a very close friend of Mr. Hill's and was well qualified to act as an intermediary.

Tammany demanded a right that it be given a delegate at large, an alternate at large and an Elector at large. Hill had made the condition that Tammany should withdraw its opposition to resolutions of instruction. With this Tammany refused to comply and its demand was flatly denied.

Mr. Sheehan made visits to Mr. Hill, Charles F. Murphy and Mr. Belmont. Mr. Sheehan took the ground that harmony would be aided if Tammany was given the right to name a delegate, an alternate and an Elector at large.

As Judge Parker's representative he was willing to waive a pledge from Tammany that it would support instructions.

It was finally decided to comply with the wishes of Judge Parker, as expressed by Mr. Sheehan, and no conditions were asked or given. As a result Mr. Murphy named as delegate at large George Ehret; as an alternate at large Congressman Francis Burton Harrison, and as Elector at large Harry Payne Whitney. This prevented August Belmont going as a delegate.

Mr. Ehret's associates will be David B. Hill, who heads the delegation; Edward Murphy, Jr., and James W. Ridgway. Further progress in the direction of harmony was made when the subject of the combines with great impressiveness. Judge Parker opposes combines that oppress the people and stifle healthy industrial competition. There the platform stops, and waits for St. Louis to speak. So, also, is the platform conservative on the subject of the tariff. It is to be a reasonable revision of the tariff this time, and the Democracy of New York and its candidate are pledged to reducing the duties on imported raw material.

The real interest in the convention centered around the debate on the resolution instructing the delegates for Judge Parker. It was known that Tammany proposed to fight to the end. Senator Thomas F. Grady, who journeyed all over the United States in 1884 opposing the election of Grover Cleveland, was put forward to begin (Continued on Page 4, First Col.)

GIRL JUMPED FROM HIGH BRIDGE YET LIVES.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 19.—Because she was accused of being in conspiracy to swindle her employers, Mabel Fulton, 19, ran weeping from the store and in view of hundreds, climbed to the highest point on the bridge and threw herself into the Ohio river. Her clothing acted as sort of a parachute and she struck the river a hundred feet below so gently that she was not dangerously injured.

ELOPERS CAUGHT IN MT. VERNON

Just as They Were on the Way to Newark.

Father of the Young Girl Persuaded
Her to Return Home—Wedding
Off for the Present.

Mt. Vernon, April 19.—A fine appearing young man stepped up to the ticket window in the B & O station here Monday and called for two tickets to Cincinnati. He then changed his mind and requested tickets to Newark. The first change of mind was voluntary, but another change made a moment later, was at the instigation of Sheriff Shellenbarger, who advised him not to purchase any tickets at all. So the train left without Jesse McIntosh and Miss Mary Rowley, who had made plans to elope to Kentucky.

The young couple took the train in affairs as good-naturedly as possible and accompanied the sheriff to a conference with the girl's father, Harrison Rowley. The young girl, who is quite attractive, agreed to return home with her father and give up her intention to get married for the present. She is just past 17 years of age and this is the principal reason on which her father objected to her marriage. Both young people are highly connected and reside near Fredericktown. They slipped away from home but were caught in Mt. Vernon in the nick of time.

BOY CONFESSES KILLED FATHER

Mother Was Convicted of the Crime

And Would Have Gone to Prison For Life to Shield Her Twelve Years Old Son.

Steubenville, O., April 19.—The mystery that has surrounded the death of Calvin Owens in his lonely cabin at Dungeon Hollow, on October 18, last, has been cleared by affidavits filed in court by members of his family.

The confession of 12-year-old Melvin Owens that he killed his father accidentally will free his mother. Mrs. Jennie Owens, who stands convicted of the murder of her husband in the first degree.

She is in jail, waiting sentence for life. The affidavits and the accompanying confession place Mrs. Owens in the light of a silent martyr, who was willing to go to the penitentiary without hope of pardon rather than tell on her youngest child.

Mrs. Owens has withheld this information from her attorneys and kept her children from telling until lately when one of them told her sister, and in this way it reached her attorneys. Even then with reluctance Mrs. Owens admitted the facts.

The public felt she was convicted on mere suspicion, the crime not being clearly proven.

The boy says a revolver was taken from him by the father and he found it again. On the night of Oct. 18 when his mother got up because of a disturbance among the chickens, he attempted to get out of bed with the revolver, and his sister tried to hold him. In the struggle the revolver was discharged, the bullet killing his father.

SCHOOL CODE COMPROMISE

Senate Again Passed the Crafts Bond Bill.

Judge Overturf Tried to Amend It—
Several Senate Bills Are Passed by the House.

Columbus, April 19.—It is thought probable that the Senate and House conferees on the school code bill will compromise on a provision for boards of education of six members each, instead of the five member boards in the House bill, and the optional boards in the Senate bill.

The Senate again passed the Crafts security bond bill, after futile attempt had been made by Senator Overturf to amend it to require that security bonds should be given by only such public officials as handle public money, and to permit personal surety to be given in fiduciary cases.

Some time ago friends of mine in Delaware were importuning," said Mr. Overturf in argument, "to increase their holdings in a certain Cleveland bonding company. They were told that this bill was to be passed and that it would add immensely to the revenues of the company.

"When this measure is a law, if it becomes a law without the amendments I propose, it will cost the state of Ohio $100,000 to furnish bonds to Washington, April 19.—(Bulletin)—Minister Allen cables the state department from Seoul that another large force of Japanese has just landed at Chemulpo with horses, guns and ammunition.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—The rushing of troops to the front continues without intermission. Three thousand men with supplies are passing through Harbin daily on their way to the seat of hostilities.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—Admiral Skhidloff, who has been appointed to succeed the late Admiral Malaref as commander in chief of the Russian naval forces in the far East, arrived from the Baltic today.

Seoul, Korea, April 19.—The commissioner of customs at Wonsan on the east coast of Korea, reports that a strong Russian force is advancing along the great south road. It is evidently the intention of the column to secure the honesty of the men elected to serve it. Unless you concede these amendments I will be compelled to believe that there is something inciting you to support this measure further than its fairness."

The bill requires all officials to furnish surety bonds, and safety bonds to be given in every case of fiduciary trust where the estate exceeds $2,000 in value.

Senator Overturf introduced a bill empowering the county commissioners of any county to have the indexes in the offices of county auditors, recorders and surveyors transcribed into other books when deemed necessary, allowing such officers therefor not to exceed 6 cents a line for recording and not to exceed 3 cents per line for indexing.

The Senate passed these House bills. By Treadway of Cuyahoga—Providing that where city councils fail to make sufficient levy to provide for the police, firemen and sanitary pension funds, the deficiency shall be apportioned out of the Dow tax. The council may levy as much as 1/2 of 1 mill.

By Treadway of Cuyahoga—Amending the mechanics' lien law to provide that fuel bills shall become a lien against property in the equipment of which such fuel was used, and giving material men and subcontractors the same right of mechanics' lien as are accorded the principal contractors under the old law. Berlin, April 19.—The Lokal Anzeiger learns that Admiral Alexieff, Russian viceroy of the far East, has ordered the erection of 23 immense military depots and 23 field hospitals capable of accommodating 20,000 wounded, between Mukden and Harbin.

London, April 19.—The correspondent of the Central News at Liao Yang, Manchuria, sends a dispatch via St. Petersburg reporting that some important fighting between outposts has occurred on the banks of the Yalu. Saturday night six Japanese were killed in an exchange of shots with a party of Russian scouts. There was some more firing last night but the results are not known.

The Japanese scouts, he says, dress as Korean peasants, and in order to find the exact position of the Russian scouts, the Japanese shout to them in Russian.

These bills now need only Governor Herrick's signature to become state laws.

PARKER MEN In Indiana Are Jubilant Over the Re- sult in New York.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 19.—Leaders of the organization Democracy which is trying to land the Indiana delegation for Judge Parker are jubilant over the information that New York instructed for him.

"It means," said National Committeeman Taggart, "that Judge Parker's nomination for president is assured beyond doubt."

State Chairman O'Brien said: "The New Yorkers have named the next candidate for president. The remainder of the country will not be slow about manifesting approval of what they have done."

Other leaders declared that the action of the New York convention will cause the sentiment to crystallize in Indiana for Parker.

New York, April 19.—In the presence of his son, eight grand children and four great grandchildren, James S. Van Court, a rich resident of Mt. The wedding was solemnized at the home of the son who is 57 years old and like his father, has been married four times.

bitter feeling which prevailed had been allayed, but Senator Hill's demonstration to save Senator Patrick H. McCarren in Brooklyn by electing a new State Committee now was resented by Tammany, and the bad faith which Tammany charged Hill with could not easily be forgotten.

The harmonizing influence of Judge Parker became an important factor in conservative action and decent treatment of all Democrats were well known, through William F. Sheehan, the former Lieutenant Governor of the State, who has recently spent many hours with Judge Parker, going into Hill was induced to hold his hands in giving decisions for the committee on contested seats.

There was a genuine outburst of applause for Judge Parker when the resolution of instruction was read. The platform, which, aside from the resolutions of instruction, was adopted by unanimous vote. It is conservative, and in this respect clearly shows the influence of Judge Parker.

Roosevelt was clearly in the eye of the convention when it spoke of the rational spirit of adventure which enlarges, alarms and checks commercial growth. The Committee on Resolutions brought Judge Parker to

NEARLY 3,000 TELEPHONES

On the Independent System in Newark and Licking County--Franchise at Alexandria Just Secured--Farmers Lines Building--New Switchboard Arrives.

The council in the village of Alexandria, five miles west of Granville, on Monday night, granted a franchise to the Johnstown and Croton Telephone company for the construction of an exchange which will be operated in connection with the Newark and other independent exchanges in Licking County.

Judge B. M. Critchfield, who was present, said that work of building the exchange will begin within 40 days at which time at least 100 telephones will be installed in Alexandria and vicinity.

The construction of this new plant will give Newark people direct communication with 2800 subscribers, over 1500 on the Newark system and 1300 in the towns and surrounding country. The Pataskala exchange today has 150 subscribers. This includes the Hebron and Jersey systems. The Johnstown and Croton system has 315 and the Utica and Homer system has 425 subscribers. Judge Critchfield says that he has 60 contracts for phones which will soon be installed.

Manager C. E. Hollander of the Newark Independent Exchange, said Tuesday noon that the new Farmers' line board had just arrived and will be installed immediately. Lines have already been built out the Hebron road, two to Hanover, one to Clay Lick and running almost to Mt. Sterling, one out the Jacksontown road branching and running east and west at Flatstown, and one towards St. Louisville as far as Vanatta. These additional lines are projected: Out the Weish Hills road off Mt. Vernon road, down the Rocky Fork road to Wilkin, and Purity and Rocky Fork, one to Black Hand and Black Run. A line out the Sharon Valley road is now building. "Lockout" phones are installed giving farmers exclusive service.

When this work now well under way, is finished by the Newark Independent company, it will add at least 200 farmers to the Newark exchange. They will have free service with Newark subscribers and Newark subscribers will have free service on the farmers' lines.

Mr. Hollander says that the home company has now passed the 1500 mark, and contracts are daily coming in. Five new contracts were received Monday. Telephones are being installed as fast as it is possible to put them in.

SCHOOL BOARD

SUPERINTENDENT ELECTED AT NEXT MEETING

Names Given School Buildings--Senior's Memorial Plan Changed--The Board Meeting.

The Board of Education met in regular session Monday night with members present, Fulton, Haight, Kellar, Munch, Keckley, Beggs and Effinger, President Keller presiding.

Bills amounting to $93.07 were read and allowed.

Prof. E. P. Childs, principal of the high school, came before the Board, and stated that the senior class had changed its intention of procuring a program clock as a memorial for the high school, and a communication from the class was also received to the same effect.

Permission was asked by the superintendent to allow the library trustees to install the clock, which was granted.

Prof. Childs asked the board for the use of the high school building, for a summer school, during five weeks, to be conducted by himself and assistant, which permission was granted.

On recommendation of Supt. Townsend, one day was given to the teachers to visit the schools of Zanesville or some other neighboring city, sometime in May.

The matter of desks for the new buildings was referred to the supply committee, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The matter of fire protection to buildings was also referred to supply committee.

The committee on names for new school buildings, reported in favor of calling the new Case avenue school the Riverside, and the new Indiana street building by that name.

President Keller announced that the rules and regulations of the board for the next meeting of the board, as the time for electing a superintendent, and that this matter would be called up at that time, after the regular routine business had been transacted.

There is known to be considerable opposition in the board to the re-election Superintendent F. M. Townsend, who of course, is the only candidate, as other men would have a difficulty in making an application for the position as long as the present incumbent is a candidate for re-election. In case he fails of election, however, there will undoubtedly be many applications.

These members of the board, who are not avowed opponents to Prof. Townsend's re-election, say that they wish to be enlightened as to the feeling of the community, on the subject, so that at the next meeting they may vote in a manner that will please their constituents and the public.

Monday night would have been the time for a new board to have been organized, but as there was no election held the old board with its organization will hold over.

Robbed the Grave.
A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunk, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters: to my great joy the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Hall's drug store.

OUTDOING EXPECTATIONS

Not so very long ago Frank D. Hall, one of Newark's most enterprising druggists, succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to allow him to sell their Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, as an introductory offer.

The results of this advertising have been phenomenal, and there has been hardly a week without Mr. Frank D. Hall being obliged to order fresh supplies.

Mr. Frank D. Hall, in commenting upon the great success that followed the adoption of his suggestion, not only in Newark, but in other places, showed The Advocate a letter from D. F. Davis, of Barre, one of the best known druggists in Vermont. Mr. Davis wrote: "The success of Dr. Howard's Specific in our city is wonderful. I received my first consignment the last of July, and since then have sold hundreds of packages, and cannot get it fast enough to keep my customers supplied. I have not had a single bottle returned, although I have guaranteed every one, and have heard nothing but praise of its merits. This is a record unsurpassed by any remedy that I have sold in the twenty-five years I have been in the drug business."

Mr. Frank D. Hall does not know how much longer he will be able to continue selling Dr. Howard's Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, but will as long as his present supply holds out. Some of his customers have said they would pay a dollar a bottle rather than be without it. 3-22-23:4:19

SHE GOT SQUARE.

How John's Wife Gave Hubby a Taste of His Own Medicine.

Knowing the aversion of her husband to letter writing, the wife of a Chicagoan thus admonished him on his departure on a recent eastern trip:

"Now, John, as neither I nor the children can accompany you, you must be eyes and ears for us and drop us an occasional postal card, telling us anything of interest you may see and hear. Don't forget, will you?"

The husband promised and took his departure. The next morning but one his wife received a postal card containing the following message:

Dear Wife—I reached Pittsburgh all right. Yours aff.

Though disappointed, she excused the brevity of the communication on the ground that her husband was doubtless pressed for time. Two days later, however, another card arrived bearing the startling announcement:

Here I am in New York. Yours ever.

Still later came another:

I am indeed in New York. Yours.

The wife swallowed her disappointment and, being good at retaliation, seized her pen and wrote:

Dear Husband—The children and I are in Chicago. Yours.

A few days later she wrote again:

We are still in Chicago.

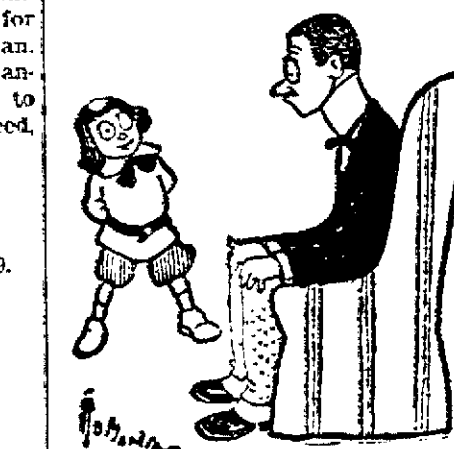

In her next communication she grew a little more enthusiastic. She wrote:

Dear Husband—Here we are in Chicago. I repeat it, sir, we are in Chicago.

P. S.—We are indeed.

In due time John reached home and, fearing perhaps that his poor wife was afflicted with some sort of dementia, hastened to ask the meaning of her strange messages. For answer she slipped into his hand his own three postal cards.—Chicago Tribune.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Underwood To Resign.

Rumors of the retirement of F. D. Underwood from the presidency of the Erie railroad are again current and this time are more persistent than ever.

Advices from New York, received Monday, state that W. G. Besler of the New Jersey Central has accepted the presidency and will take charge of the road June 1. The advices further state that the report emanates from a reliable and authoritative source notwithstanding the printed denials said to have been made by some members of the board of directors of the Erie.

The statement is in direct line with the rumors that have been in general circulation for some time. For over two months it has been reported that Mr. Underwood's resignation would either follow or precede his return from his extended European trip. The field has been thoroughly canvassed by railroad men on a hunt for his successor and not less than three times has the name of Mr. Besler been published as the man chosen by the Erie board of directors. In fact, in railroad circles it has been almost taken for granted that no other name would be considered.

Mr. Underwood has a number of personal friends who choose to doubt the reports of his retirement. They assert that he would never leave the road except by his own will and they argue that he is too closely attached to the company and the men who control it to leave it unless compelled to; ergo, the rumors of his resignation are unfounded.

Changes on the B. & O.

W. H. Williams has resigned as assistant to the general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. It is said that he is appointed to an important position in the freight traffic department of one of the roads of the Rock Island system. He is a close friend of President Loree, of the Rock Island company. When Mr. Loree was fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania lines, Mr. Williams was his chief clerk. Then when Mr. Loree became president of the Baltimore and Ohio he took Mr. Williams to Baltimore and had him made assistant secretary of the company. Later he was appointed assistant to the general manager.

In connection with this it is rumored that C. S. Sims may soon retire as general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio. He was appointed general superintendent of the road at New York by Mr. Loree and later promoted by him to general manager. It is reported that he may follow Mr. Loree to the Rock Island system. Mr. Sims is considered an able general manager and he may have been offered a position that will induce him to leave the Baltimore and Ohio.

Engine for Exhibition.

Expert machinists in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad are engaged at the Altoona shops in setting up the Des Glehn locomotive, recently received from France for exhibition at the St. Louis exposition. The big locomotive was shipped to this country in sections and upon arrival in New York was sent by special cars to the Altoona shops, where the mechanics are working extra time to get it ready for shipment to St. Louis. Although much different in construction from the American locomotive the men are experiencing no great difficulty in putting it together. While on exhibition, as has been announced, this locomotive will be given severe tests under a special committee selected by the Pennsylvania road for their wide knowledge of mechanics as applied to locomotives.

Want An Advance.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of the Pennsylvania Lines, has asked for an advance in wages to correspond with rates paid by lines west of Chicago, says the Columbus Dispatch. The general grievance committee of the lines west of Pittsburgh has just concluded a conference at which P. H. Morrissey, grand master of the brotherhood, was in attendance, accompanied by the members of the committee. The advance in wages will be taken up by the various division superintendents, and the result will be submitted to the grievance committee, which will meet in Pittsburgh the latter part of next week. The trainmen are asking for 30 and 28 cents per hour for yard brakemen, 31 and 33 cents per hour for yard conductors and pay by the mile instead of the day for road trainmen as follows: Three and one-half cents per mile for conductors, 2 1-2 cents for brakemen and 2 2-3 cents for flagmen. That is what the lines west of Chicago are paying. With this proposition the grievance committee called on A. M. Schoyer, the general superintendent of the northwest system. This official referred the committee to the general manager, G. L. Peck, who in turn referred the body to the division superintendent, where the matter remained when the grievance committee left Pittsburgh. It is probable that a compromise will result before a settlement can be reached.

G. A. R. Rates.

The Central Passenger association at its regular monthly meeting held at Chicago Wednesday reconsidered its vote on the rate granted for the annual encampment of the Ohio G. A. R. to be held at Tiffin, June 14, 17, and has named a rate of one cent a mile plus 25 cents instead of the rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip, which was authorized at a previous meeting.

Lake Navigation.

On account of the long severe winter navigation on the lakes will not open before May 1, and possibly not before the 10th. Consequently the earnings of every coal road handling lake coal will be more or less affected. This has certainly been a severe winter for the railroads.

Railway Appraisements.

The county auditors of the state have arranged the following date and places of meeting for appraising the values of the track and rolling stock of the railway companies passing through this county: Pennsylvania, Columbus, May 11; Wheeling & Lake Erie, Cleveland, May 19; Central Ohio division of the B. & O., Newark, May 25.

Best on the Road.

Baltimore & Ohio Engineer Joseph Smallwood, who runs a passenger engine between Newark and Cincinnati, says that he now has the finest and fastest engine on the road. It is the 873, which was recently overhauled and rebuilt in the Newark shops under the supervision of Master Mechanic G. Devilliss. Mr. Smallwood, who has been running an engine on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad since 1876, says that in all his experience he never ran a finer engine. He pulls the trains of Conductors John Doyle and M. Shaffer, and says that he would have no trouble in making 70 miles an hour with the engine.

OHIO NATIONAL GUARD

Will Probably Not Come to Newark This Summer—Major Blizzard Thinks the Soldiers Will be Sent to Hocking and Athens Counties to Camp.

Major Elmer Blizzard, who attended a session held by the officers of the Fourth regiment in Columbus Sunday, states with considerable certainty that the state encampment will be held in Hocking and Athens counties this summer from the first to the tenth of August. The encampment will not be on the usual order of state encampments, but will be wider in scope than the compact division camps heretofore held.

This summer the First Brigade will camp in Hocking county, while the Second will be located in Athens county, about seven miles distant. Division headquarters will be maintained between the two. Maneuvers between the two brigades will be held daily and the program will include sham battles and scouting expeditions, the entire time being spent by each brigade as in actual warfare.

The land is owned by a mining company. There are only two houses in the territory, the land is hilly and the entire damage will not amount to over $200.

For some time past the feasibility of going to West Point or Fort Riley, Kansas, has been under discussion, but Adjutant General A. B. Critchfield has decided that the National Guard will be able to make a better showing a year hence than this summer and that the training such as has been planned will be more beneficial than such a trip.

What is the matter with the Newark camp grounds? The governor, the regular army officers, nearly all of the colonels and staff officers who were here last summer expressed their complete satisfaction with the Newark grounds which is admirable in every way for a military camp. Newark people will hope that the talk of going elsewhere with the Ohio Guard this year will not materialize. The guard should come to the state ground at Newark. This is where it belongs and where it can be properly cared for.

The law which was passed during March provides that each regularly enlisted member of the National Guard shall receive 25 cents for each day in annual training drill to amount to 48 in an annual training drill. The law provides that each regularly enlisted member of the National Guard shall receive 25 cents for each day in annual training drill to amount to 48 in an annual training drill. The law provides that each regularly enlisted member of the National Guard shall receive 25 cents for each day in annual training drill to amount to 48 in an annual training drill.

ATTENTION CO. G.

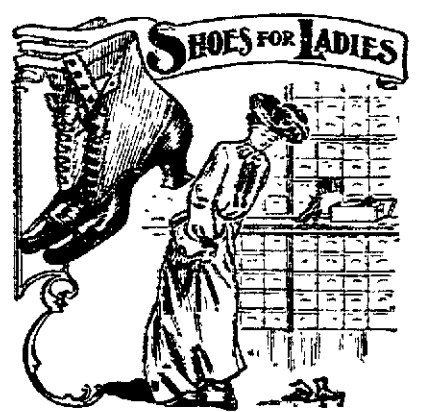

Beginning Tuesday night each member of this command will receive 25 cents for each attendance at drill. Those who fail to attend will be fined 25 cents for non-attendance. Each member is ordered to report at Armory Tuesday night. By order of E. W. HEISEY, First Lieut., Commanding Company.

BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. Address BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

New Crop of Hair

Joseph Georgetta, the fruit dealer of North Third street, has been bald for years. Recently he was induced to use some of Black & Rosebrough's celebrated tonic for the hair, with the result that the hair is coming out thick and black over the bald places. Mr. Georgetta says he wouldn't take $2000 for the benefit he has received.

Opposite Union Block.

As will be seen from the list of building permits, George E. Handel and Anna Handel will build a handsome new structure on Church street, between Third and Fourth, opposite the Union block. The new building will be 21 feet frontage and 100 feet deep, and will be quite an improvement on this part of Church street. The site is that formerly occupied by Watkins' wall paper store.

Bird is Identified.

The identity of the bird in the possession of Conductor John Doyle, a description of which was given in Monday's Advocate, has been learned. It is a loon, or great northern diver. It is away out of its latitude, being generally found in the vicinity of the great northern lakes. The loon is from 30 to 36 inches in length, and has a four and a half feet in stretch of wings. The wild actions of the loon in escaping danger and its dismal cry suggest the idea of insanity, whence the common simile "as crazy as a loon."

New York Endorses Judge Parker

The Democratic State Convention of New York on Monday created wide interest throughout the country on account of its predicted action in instructing on the presidential nomination. The expectation was that the convention would endorse the candidacy of Judge Allen B. Parker and this was done in a spirit of much greater harmony than was foretold by the Republican newspapers. Tammany Hall was opposed to instructing for any candidate though that organization displayed no hostility to Judge Parker. The vote endorsing Judge Parker was overwhelming and Tammany accepted the will of the majority.

The disasters which have befallen the Russian battleships at Port Arthur and the effective work done there by the smaller vessels of the Japanese fleet are said to have induced the opinion among British naval experts that there must be a radical change in naval construction. The battleship, it is claimed, will no longer be given the prominent part it has lately held in fleets, and for it will be substituted smaller and speedier vessels, carrying large guns and torpedoes.

The supreme court of Iowa has decided not to recognize divorces granted in South Dakota to Iowans who go to that state for the sole purpose of securing a severance of their marriage ties. In this the Iowa court has followed the decisions of several other tribunals. The propriety of this ruling is evident. Persons who cannot secure divorces in their states should not be permitted to utilize the legal machinery of others to accomplish their ends. There ought to be an agreement arrived at between all the states upon this subject of divorce, and there will have to be one sooner or later.

The report of Admiral Togo declares that in the attack on Port Arthur Tuesday night the Japanese sunk mines at midnight, and at 8 o'clock in the morning drew the Russian ships out 15 miles from the port, and that the Petropavlovsk struck a Japanese mine and was sunk. This appears to be the most probable explanation of the disaster to the Russian battleship. The admitted maneuvers of the Japanese and Russian fleets bear this out. A portion of the former appeared off the port and were followed by Admiral Makaroff, who retired when a superior Japanese force was sighted. Then the disaster occurred. The placing of the Japanese mines at midnight seems to be a more plausible explanation of the matter than that the Russian warship struck a Russian mine which had become detached from its moorings.

JUDGE PARKER

the light. Hill sat just across the aisle from the Tammany delegation, alert and watchful. Senator Grady presented a minority report from the Committee on Resolutions, which merely embodied a substitute resolution for that on instructions. It was a resolution very complimentary to Judge Parker.

THE PLATFORM.
The platform adopted is as follows:
The Democrats, in renewing their pledge of fidelity to the essential principles of Jeffersonian Democracy as repeatedly enunciated in our national and state platforms, make these further declarations upon the national issues of the hour, reserving an expression upon state issues until the fall convention, when state candidates are to be nominated.
1. This is a government of laws, not of men; one law for Presidents, Cabinets and people; no usurpation, no executive encroachment upon the legislative or judicial department.
2. We must keep inviolate the pledges of our treaties; we must renew and reinvigorate within ourselves that respect for law and that love of liberty and of peace which the spirit of military domination tends inevitably to weaken and destroy.
3. Unsteady national policies and a restless spirit of adventure engender claims that check our commercial growth. Let us have peace, to the end that business confidence may be restored, and that our people may again in tranquility enjoy the gains of their toil.
4. Corporations chartered by the state must be subject to just regulation by the state in the interest of the people; taxation for public purposes only; no Government partnership with protected monopolies.
5. Opposition to trusts and combinations that oppress the people and stifle healthy industrial competition.
6. A check upon extravagance in public expenditures; that the burden of the people's taxes may be lightened.
7. Reasonable revision of the tariff, needless duties upon imported raw materials weigh heavily upon the manufacturer, are a menace to the American wage earner, and by increasing the cost of production shut out our products from the foreign markets.
8. The maintenance of state rights and home rule; no centralization.
9. Honesty in the public service, vigilance in the prevention of fraud, the firmness in the punishment of guilt when detected.
10. The impartial maintenance of the rights of labor and of capital, no unequal discrimination, no abuse of the powers of law, for favoritism or oppression.
The Democracy of New York favor the nomination for President of the United States that distinguished Democrat and eminent jurist of our own state, Alton Brooks Parker, and the delegates selected by this convention are hereby instructed to present and support such nomination at the approaching national convention.
That the said delegates are hereby further instructed to act and vote as a unit in all matters pertaining to said convention in accordance with the will of the majority of the said delegates. And the delegates are further authorized to fill any vacancies which may arise from any cause in said delegation in case of the absence of both delegate and alternate.

Pennsylvania Democrats.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 19.—There is every indication today that the delegates to the National Democratic convention to be selected by the Democratic state convention today will not be instructed for Judge Parker, but will go to St. Louis strong in the belief that the New York jurist is the most acceptable candidate.

West Virginia Democrats.

Charleston, W. Va., April 19.—The Democratic state convention which convenes here tomorrow by promises to be the most interesting ever held by either party in the state. There are now a dozen candidates and many others who, while not candidates, have signified their willingness to accept the honor of being a member of the "big four" to the St. Louis Convention. It is almost certain that the convention will not instruct its delegates.

DENISON TRUSTEES MEET

Rev. W. A. Berger of Newark Engaged to Teach German—Several Changes in Teaching Made—Trustees are Pleased Over the Bright Outlook for Old Denison.

Granville, O., April 19.—The regular April meeting of the trustees of Denison University was held here on Monday and considerable business of importance was transacted. When the members of the board convened in Recital Hall for the afternoon session it was found that the following trustees were in attendance: President, Dr. H. F. Colby, Dayton; C. D. Lewis, Toledo; E. M. Thresher and J. B. Thresher, Dayton, D. Zollers, Canton; J. M. Amos, Cambridge; Rev. M. Erelsford, Urbana; Rev. H. F. Stillwell, D. D., Cleveland; Dr. C. J. Baldwin, Granville; Rev. C. J. Rure, Granville; Prof. A. D. Cole, Ohio State University; J. R. Davies, Newark; Rev. B. F. Patt, Newark; Rev. C. W. Lasher, Cincinnati; E. J. Barney, Dayton.
Among the principal affairs transacted at the meeting, the salaries of the teachers were fixed for the year, and a few changes made in the teachers. In the Conservatory of Music Miss Edna Stranathan tendered her resignation. Miss Blinn, also of the Conservatory of Music, was awarded leave of absence for the remainder of the term. She will go to Europe to look up new ideas in the musical line. During her absence her place will be filled by a Columbus lady.
Rev. W. A. Berger, pastor of the German Reformed Presbyterian church of Newark, has been engaged as assistant teacher of German in Denison. Rev. Mr. Berger, however, will retain his position in Newark.
Some changes in the branches that professors will teach were also made. Prof. W. A. Chamberlin, who has been teaching modern languages in Shepardson College, will be relieved of that duty and a special teacher will be provided.

Professor Trask, professor of engineering, was relieved of some academic teaching that he has been doing during the past year, and hereafter will devote his entire attention to his department.
All the trustees were very enthusiastic over the splendid outlook for Denison, and arrangements were made to push the work on the new buildings that are contemplated, in addition to the new buildings that will be erected the splendid new heating plant will be finished, when all the buildings of Denison University, including Shepardson college, will be heated from the central heating plant next winter.

A number of important changes will also be made in Shepardson college, chief of which will be the putting in of an entire new plumbing system. During the past several years the attendance at Shepardson college has largely increased and the dormitory facilities have been taxed to their utmost. At present there are forty-nine rooms in the dormitory of Shepardson college, and there have been sixty-five applications for rooms to date. One of the trustees said that it is quite probable that a new dormitory for Shepardson will be erected this year. There is nearly enough money on hand for this purpose, and it is thought that with a little effort the balance of the money needed will be forthcoming.
Also, the prospects for old Denison are very bright.

JACK NEWHART WON

Newark Man Secured Two Out of Three Falls From Young Muldoon of Louisville at Music Hall—Monday's Base Ball—Local and General Sporting News.

The wrestling match between Jack Newhardt, the local welterweight, and Young Muldoon of Louisville, Ky., was pulled off at the Music Hall, Monday night, before a small crowd, and was won by Newhardt, who secured two falls out of three. The wrestling throughout was clean, and both men were on their mettle. The only hold that was barred was the strange hold, and at no time was it necessary for Referee Edgar Cleary to even caution the men.
They stripped and stepped on the mat at 9:15, Newhardt coming before the audience first. He was greeted with cheers, which a few moments later were renewed for his opponent. The men were trained to the minute, and their muscles stood out in the perfection of physical development.
The wrestling began with Newhardt being the aggressor, and throughout he kept his taller and heavier opponent on the defensive. It was seen that Muldoon was as strong as a horse, and for a while he easily broke every hold that Newhardt secured, and the spectators realized that if the local man won he would have to do it by his superior science and knowledge of the game. After a half hour's beautiful display of strength directed along lines of intelligent endeavor, Muldoon secured a left hammer hold on Newhardt, which a moment later he supplemented with a right feather Nelson, and for the first time the Kentucky man appeared to have the better of the match. Newhardt did his best and gave a great exhibition of defensive wrestling. He went to a bridge and for a time it looked as if he might break his opponent's deadly hold, but finally the plucky Newark athlete was forced to the mat and Muldoon had won the first fall in 35 minutes 45 seconds.

After a rest of 15 minutes, the men again appeared and as previously, Newhardt at once became the aggressor. This time he clearly outclassed his opponent and in 8 minutes and 10 seconds the local man had won the second fall with an arm lock and feather Nelson. The audience went wild with delight, and cheered the Newark favorite to the echo.
Newhardt allowed Muldoon 20 minutes between the second and third falls, which is the limit of intermission and when they appeared for the deciding fall, both realized that the result meant a great deal, and this feeling was communicated to the spectators.

Again did Newhardt take the initiative, and after attempting to get several holds, it was seen that he was again trying for a feather Nelson, which he finally got. This time, however, Muldoon defended successfully and the molder had to force him down until he was enabled to get a scissors lock with the feather hold. It was then only a question of time and in 11 minutes and 20 seconds Newhardt won the deciding fall, and was proclaimed winner of the match.

There was no betting allowed in the hall, but Newhardt's friends succeeded during the day in placing several small wagers on the chances of their favorite.
Police Chief James Sheridan and Captain Bell were present, and enjoyed the sport, but their services in an official capacity were not needed, as the crowd was quiet and orderly.

This match was an important one as it carried with it the championship of Southern Ohio and Kentucky, to which Newhardt now has a clean title.

Newark Baseball.

The Idlewild baseball team will report for preliminary work on next Monday and the local season will open on Sunday, May 1 with the Unions of Columbus.

F. S. Scott, who will play left field for Idlewild, is in Newark and is assisting Manager Driscoll in making arrangements for the opening. Scotty is enthusiastic over the team that Manager Driscoll has gotten together.

Fragments for Fans

Joe Corbitt, who some years ago was the premier twirler for Hanlon's Baltimore aggregation, and who has been on the Pacific slope for the past several seasons, again made his appearance in the National League, pitching a game for St. Louis against Chicago. He lost his game through his erratic work and errors behind him, but showed great form, striking out 10 men.

Jake Beckley is hitting the ball hard and timely for St. Louis, where he is now playing. Jake could always hit, but never when it was needed. Newark fans, without exception, rejoiced to see him leave Cincinnati, and his place taken by a man with brains, something the old war horse never possessed.

Christy Matthewson pitched great ball for eight innings against Philadelphia, on Monday. Then the Quakers found his delivery and he was benched, his old side partner Iron Man McGinnity going in. New York won 7 to 6.

The all-star New York Americans have been starting bad, suffering the third straight defeat on Monday, with the great Chesbro in the box.

The home season for the world's champion Boston team opened Monday, and 10,600 fans saw them win from Washington. A parade of both teams, headed by a brass band, preceded the game, and Captain Collins formally raised to the top of the flag staff, two banners emblematic of the American League and world's championships.

Next Wrestling Match.

Jack Newhardt, who defeated Young Muldoon, announces that he has accepted the challenge of C. F. Gugel, the Columbus wrestler, for a match which will be pulled off probably April 30.

HANLON WHIPS CALLAHAN.

Philadelphia, April 19.—Eddie Hanlon, of California, had the better of a six-round bout Monday, with Tim Callahan, of this city, at the Leno Athletic club. The fight was a fast one and the Californian had the advantage in every round. Neither man received much punishment.

WATER WORKS BONDS

Ordinance Paving Way to Municipal Ownership is Introduced.

Proposed to Issue Bonds in Sum of $300,000 for the Purpose—Memorial Drinking Fountain Accepted—Street Paving—City Council Proceedings.

A decisive step towards the city's owning its own water works system was taken at the meeting of the city council Monday night, when an ordinance prepared by Solicitor Smythe, was introduced, to issue $300,000 bonds to erect, equip and maintain a water works system in Newark. This ordinance will undoubtedly be passed.

The city council was called to order Monday evening by President Russell with members Baker, Conrad, Carlisle, Moser, Miller and Jones present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Clerk Ralph Davis and were approved.

The street committee reported that they had selected a design for the fountain to be erected by Mr. Edward Kitzmiller in memorial of his father, Dr. Henry Kitzmiller, and favored the proposition made by him to erect the fountain on the public square. Received and filed.

The law committee recommended the passage of the ordinance regulating the running at large of dogs. To the Council of Newark:

The Mayor submitted the following report:

Gentlemen:—Your attention is called to the suit of Michael Bolton against the City of Newark whereby the city was required to pay damages to the amount of $500.

In this case plaintiff obtained judgment for injuries to a team of horses injured by falling into an excavation on Granville street, made by the Newark Water Works company for their own purposes. On the trial of the action a notice was served on the water company to come into the case and defend which they refused to do.

The solicitor informs me that in his opinion the city can recover from the Newark Water company the amount the city was required to pay cut by reason of said judgment and respectfully urge that this council pass the necessary resolution authorizing the solicitor to commence such suit. Respectfully submitted.

ANDREW J. CRULLY, Mayor.

The clerk of council reported that the assessments for the Woods avenue sewer have been computed and that no protest against the paving of West Locust street had been received. The report was received and filed.

A protest from four property owners along North Fourth street against the levying of assessments for the sewer improvements on that street was read. The signers claim that the sewer was not laid deep enough to benefit them.

A petition asking for a sidewalk along the east and west sides of Dewey avenue from Tuscarawas street to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and signed by twenty-seven property owners was read. Referred to the street committee.

A petition from ten property owners on Riley street asking for 5-foot sidewalks from Williams street to the corporation line was received and filed.

A communication from the secretary of the League of Ohio Municipalities calling attention to the meeting of the league which will be held in Bellaire, June 21 to 23, was received and filed.

A communication from Messrs L. R. Wilson and J. A. Wintermute of the Newark Sprinkling company, relative to the sprinkling of the street, was received. The communication states that many merchants and the County Commissioners have refused to contribute for sprinkling this summer and asks counsel to take some action in the matter. Messrs. Wilson & Wintermute offer to do the work for $50 per month.

A communication from the W. C. T. U. protesting against bill boards and the advertisements on the recorders for waste paper around the square was received and filed.

ORDINANCES.

On third reading: To pave Granville street from Eddy street to Eleventh street. Passed.

On third reading: Regulating the sale of milk in the city. Passed.

On third reading: Providing for the issuing of licenses. Passed.

On first reading: Directing the Board of Public Service to enter into a contract with the Newark Sprinkling company to sprinkle around the square and city buildings during the summer. Referred to the finance committee.

On first reading: To issue bonds to the amount of $300,000 for the purpose of establishing, erecting and building a water works system. Referred to the finance committee.

On first reading: Regulating houses of prostitution.

On first reading: Amending an ordinance fixing the fire limit to the Square bounded by Main, Fourth, Canal and Fifth streets. Passed under suspension of the rules.

The ordinance regulating the running at large of dogs was laid on the table.

Mr. Ferd Mohlenpach was present and stated that there has been a leak in the gas main in front of his place of business for sometime past and that the gas company has done nothing to repair the matter. On motion of Mr. Miller the clerk of the council was authorized to notify the natural and artificial gas companies of the leak.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Miller—That the Board of Public Safety have the city fire engine tested and get an estimate of the cost of repairs necessary. Adopted.

By Moser—That the city council pass an ordinance to construct a sidewalk on Dewey avenue. Adopted.

By Moser—To instruct the Board of Public Service to establish a grade on Linden avenue and also on Sixteenth street from West Main to Granville street. Adopted.

Just before the conclusion of the meeting a lively discussion regarding the merits and necessity of the Woods avenue paving occurred. Dr. G. W. Emery and Mr. W. C. Seward making addresses.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; unless cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

What the Leading Man Needed to Mollify Him

"I MUST have a change of scene," he said.

Truly he was in sad plight. He had grown pale and wan, his eyes were listless, and he had no heart for anything.

"I am weary," he went on, "of seeing the same thing day after day and night after night. There is the same tree in the same place, the same house, the same balcony, the same fence, the same old mill. The same girl swings on the same gate and welcomes me with the same words. I have the same emotions, and the same gruff father rushes from the same door to drive me away. The monotony of it is maddening. I must have a change of scene."

They argued with him, but to no purpose.

"One cannot have things as he would wish in this world," they said. "It should be some consolation to you that the girl is true."

"But it's the same loyalty, the same devotion," he persisted. "She never changes. I tell you, I've got to break the monotony of this life somehow. I've got to have a change of some sort, and a change of scene is the easiest arranged, it seems to me."

They saw that he was in earnest.

"Stick it out one more month," they said, "and we will put on a new play that will give you a complete change of scene and possibly a new sweetheart."

Thus the leading man of the successful melodrama was mollified.—Chicago Post.

No Snoring.

Postmaster General Payne the other day told a story of something that he once saw in a Milwaukee courtroom. Through the kindness and tact of the judge the court crier was saved from a fine.

"I one day attended," said Mr. Payne, "a session of the court at which this judge presided. The court crier was a very old man; he had served with fidelity for many years, but age was beginning now to tell on him. He fell asleep while I was in the courtroom, and in a little while he was snoring."

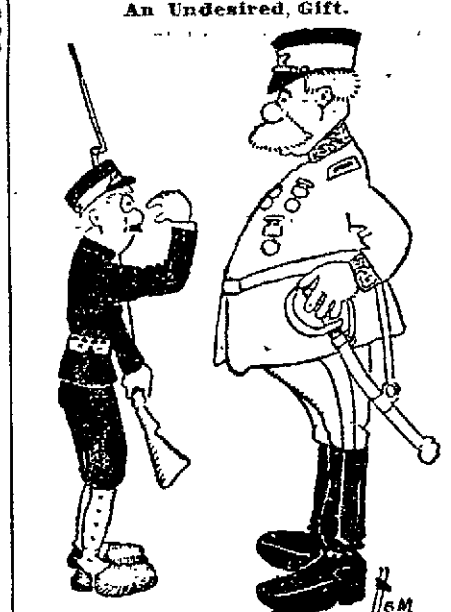

"The snorer, of course, disturbed the proceedings of the court, but the judge showed great tact in interrupting, without embarrassing the crier."

"Crier Jones," he said in a loud voice. "Crier Jones, some one is snoring!"

"The crier awakened with a start and jumped to his feet."

"Silence!" he exclaimed. "There must be no snoring in the courtroom, and he glared fiercely all about him."

An Undesired Gift.

"Why don't you present arms to your superior officer?"

"I would, captain, only I didn't s'pose you'd care for a dinky old gun like this."—New York Evening Journal.

An Eye to the Future.

Housekeeper—Considering how much I've done for you, I think you might say some word before you go.

Tramp—I'd like to oblige you, mum, but think how often the wheel of fortune turns over in this country.

"What's that to do with it?"

"Everything, mum. My grandchildren might get rich, and then it would be so much pleasanter for him to be able to say their grandfather was a gentleman of leisure than to have to admit he was a wood Sawyer."—New York Weekly.

Got What They Wanted.

Over in the mosquito country an old farmer died. He was reputed to be rich. After his death, however, it was found that he died penniless. His will was very brief. It ran as follows:

In the name of God, amen. There's only one thing I leave. I leave the earth. My relatives have always wanted that. They can have it.

BILL L. LINDNER.

Not Naturally a Student.

"What is your favorite study?"

"I don't know," answered the boy with chapped hands.

"Can't you decide?"

"No. It's like trying to guess whether I'd have a sprained ankle or a stomach ache."

A Revised Ambition.

"If I owned the earth, I often think of the wonderful things I'd do. I'd have reformers or an eye could wink and establish a system of new laws. Of song and of simple mirth. There'd be nothing to fret us or annoy if I only owned the earth."

And the man that said so dreamed one night.

That he owned it. The price was paid. And he passed his estate left and right. Which mostly were disobeyed.

And the people doubted his purpose kind. And he struck, and he found his birth was hard. He was glad when he woke to find That he didn't own the earth.

A Doctor's Device

(Original.)

In the days of the Pennsylvania oil strikes I, then a young physician, was called to examine a man there, Samuel Granger, who had inherited a farm near which oil had been struck and whose brain was supposed to have been affected by the sudden turn of his fortune. He heard sounds no one else could hear, and at intervals a ghost came into his room at night. He lived with his aunt, who wanted to have him placed in an asylum.

I didn't care to have the patient or his aunt know that I was going to examine him, so I wrote that I would arrive much later than I intended. One morning I went to the house without either the aunt or nephew knowing that I was coming. The door was opened by the aunt.

"I understand," I said, "that this property is for sale. I would like to buy it if I can do so at a fair price and get a clear title."

"You can't buy it or get a clear title either. My nephew owns it, and he's gone daft on account of its sudden rise in value."

"Why don't you have him adjudged incompetent to manage his affairs and a guardian appointed?"

"That's what we're trying to do. There's a doctor coming down from the city in a few days to examine him. But I don't believe it'll do any good. Sam sees a ghost every now and then. There isn't any ghost. Nobody but Sam sees it. He's all right on other subjects, and I don't know as you can call a man crazy because he says he has seen a spirit."

"Has any one been with him when he has seen the ghost?"

"Don't know that there has, excepting me."

"How often does the ghost appear?"

"Oh, once in awhile."

"Will he be likely to see it within the next few days?"

"Maybe, if he gets excited about anything."

"I'll tell you what I'd do if I were you. I'd tell him that the doctor is coming to examine him in an asylum. Tell it to him the day before you expect the doctor. That will bring on the paroxysm, and he'll fancy he's seen the ghost again. That'll give the doctor an opportunity to talk with him just after he has seen it."

The woman made no reply to this, and, assuring her that I would give a large sum for the property as soon as it could be sold, I left her.

The next day but one I was expected to appear and examine the patient. The next afternoon I went up on a hill overlooking Sam Granger's farm and watched. All I saw was a young man come to a window but a few feet above the roof of a piazza. After dark I stole down to the house and climbed up a trellis to the window. It was summer, and the window was open. There was no one in the room, but a light on a table showed me by the presence of clothing, pipes, tobacco and such things scattered about that it was a man's room. I waited on the piazza roof till after 9 o'clock, when the young man entered, took off his clothes and went to bed. He looked nervous and haggard.

What I was after was to see him under the influence of his vision without his knowing of my presence. His aunt had doubtless excited him by telling him that I was coming, and he would be pretty sure to see the ghost. I could hear him tossing in the bed, but as the lamp was not lighted I could not see him. I waited till nearly 11 o'clock, when he had quieted down, and I thought he was asleep. But suddenly he gave a shriek, and I could faintly see him sitting up in bed, doubtless staring at his vision. I cast my eyes about the room, and to the left, near a door, I saw a luminous white figure, apparently of a woman.

For a moment I was taken aback. I had no idea of anything appearing except to the young man's excited brain. Here was something that I could see myself. Then it occurred to me that the ghost's garments had been rubbed with phosphorus. The figure stood a few moments and was turning to go before I gathered my faculties, but suddenly under an impulse I sprang into the window, dashed across the room and seized its skirts just as it had got into the hall. Then with one arm around a bureau waist I drew the apparition back into the room, took out my matchbox and lit the lamp. My next move was to pull a piece of white muslin from the apparition and expose the head and shoulders of the aunt.

"Who are you?" she cried angrily. "I'm the man that wants to buy this farm, alias the doctor who was to come here to examine your nephew. He doesn't need any examination. It is plain that you are anxious to shut him up, doubtless with a view to being appointed his guardian and getting a hand on his property."

The young man was astonished that his ghost was human and at the same time shocked at what his aunt had been doing. Then he fell into a rage with her and despite my efforts to prevent drove her out of the house.

When I returned to the city and related my experience to some of my young medical associates they all declared that I had mistaken my calling; I should have been a detective.

To this I replied that I had been especially stupid for a detective point of view, as I had for a moment suspected the real cause of Sam Granger's mental trouble.

This is Newark Testimony and Will Stand Investigation.

C. L. Wines, 255 Elm street, says: "I had more or less trouble with my kidneys. I need not dwell on the symptoms. It is enough to say that I suffered, was nearly helpless and could get nothing to help until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's drug store. I happened to read in one of the local papers something pertaining to them, and I went there and got some. I was much surprised at the quickness of the relief they gave and I have told lots of other people about them."

THE "KATY" TO THE FRONT.
Will Reserve Rooms for World's Fair Visitors.

The passenger department of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway has made a move of much interest and value to its patrons who desire to visit St. Louis during the World's Fair. It has established a bureau to supply the wants of visitors in the way of rooming accommodations. It has secured option to several thousand furnished private residences. All are inspected by a representative of the bureau. None but clean, first-class rooms in most desirable districts are accepted.

The M. K. & T. ticket agent at each city and station on its line are prepared to secure reservations in advance. "Katy" ticket agents will explain the plan. This arrangement no doubt will prove popular.

Those desiring accommodations should apply as far in advance as possible, as it will be difficult to reserve rooms on short notice.

An office of the bureau will be maintained near the Union station, St. Louis, at which quarters an efficient corps of clerks and uniformed messengers will be on hand to direct visitors to their rooms. The bureau will be prepared to furnish guides, chaperones, messengers, also cabs and automobiles to carry visitors to their quarters and express service for the transfer of baggage at reasonable rates. This will be recognized at once to be of special value to strangers and ladies without escorts.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Sandusky, O. April 19.—Judge Reed rules that the Ohio state medical registration and examination law is unconstitutional because it limits the right to practice the healing art without the use of drugs or medicines to osteopathy and by the rule of exclusion Christian Scientists are prohibited from practicing such pursuits.

He said it should be amended so as to allow for a reasonable examination for Christian Scientists and for their registration.

The ruling was made in the case of Oliver W. Marble of Sandusky, who was convicted some months ago and fined on a charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Marble had treated a case of rheumatism according to Christian science.

A CASE OF BLACKMAIL

[Original.]

Young Mrs. Varian while shopping left her bag, containing her purse and two letters—the one recently received, the other to be posted—on the counter. After awhile she came hurrying back. The salesman, a young man of very unprepossessing appearance, whose clothes had been renovated and cleaned to the point of respectability required by his employers, declared that he had not seen it, whereupon Mrs. Varian threatened to send to the office and have him searched.

"If you do you will bring suspicion on me and," he hesitated, then cast a piercing glance at the lady, "perhaps yourself."

Mrs. Varian paled. She remembered the letters.

"Madam," said the salesman in a low tone, "when and where can I see you?"

She cast a withering glance at him, then gave her address, adding: "To-night at 11. Come to the basement. How much shall I have ready?"

"Two thousand dollars."

The lady's heart sank within her, for she knew she could not raise such a sum. But she went away without further effort to regain her property or to reduce the amount of the blackmail.

About 5 o'clock that afternoon a flashily dressed man stopped at the counter and while examining some silks looked up at the salesman with a surprised expression and asked, "Are you George Perks?"

"I am."

"I'm Johnny Denico. I come from the same town as you."

Perks permitted Mr. Denico to claim acquaintance without protest, listening to what evidence he had as to his really being what he represented, listening without even a yes or no. When Denico concluded, "I'm alone in town; come and have a dinner with me," Perks saw something tangible. He hadn't had a good dinner for years, and as Denico was willing to pay for one he was perfectly willing to trust to his professions till it was over. Either the man had made a mistake or was trying to "do" him. After dinner he would break away.

At 6 o'clock Denico came back, the clerks swarmed out, and the two newly made friends were in the throng. Denico led the way to a restaurant, ordered a good dinner and while they were waiting for it concluded that it would be pleasant to have a private room, which was secured. When Perks was well filled, Denico began to beat about the bush in a proposition he said he had to make, but at last came out plain:

"To tell the truth, George, this prosperity of mine is dependent upon a little game I'm playing. I've got a scheme for getting in people by a very ingenious advertisement, the real meaning of which is thinly concealed. Now I want a man."

"That's your game, is it?" interrupted Perks. "I knew from the first by your looks that you were no acquaintance of mine and that you were either going to bunko me or wanted me to join you in some confidence game. Mr. Denico—if that's your name—you're given me a first rate dinner, and on that account I'll not put the police on your track, but I want to tell you that I'm an honest man, working for a first class concern, and can't be tempted."

Perks drained his glass and, rising, took his hat from a hook. Then turning he said: "Good evening, Mr. Denico. The next time you try to 'do' a man you'd better light on one that can't be thrown through a millstone."

"Sit down," said Denico, with a sudden change of manner and tone.

Perks took fright at once and sprang for the door. Before he could open it he felt Denico's hand on his collar and the cold muzzle of a revolver pressed against his neck. Denico led him back to his seat and crammed him into it. Then he locked the door, put the key in his pocket and resumed his seat.

"I've failed to fool you as I hoped. I don't like my present method. It's dangerous, especially in this case. But I won't use that thing," putting the revolver in his pocket. "It's noisy. I'll try this." And he drew ten inches of polished steel from his breast pocket, the point of which made Perks shudder.

"This morning a lady left her bag at your counter. I don't believe you have dared leave it there. I made sure of you from the time you left the store, and I believe you have it on your person."

"I haven't," said Perks, trembling. "I rolled it up in a bundle of silk goods. The wrapper girl found it and sent it to the office."

"With everything in it?"

"Yes."

"You lie! Turn your pockets inside out."

Perks hesitated a moment, then, realizing that he was cornered, took two letters from his inside pocket and threw them on the table. Denico seized them eagerly, looked at the addresses, then smiled complacently. Stepping to the door, he unlocked it and held it open for Perks to pass out, helping him with a kick that nearly broke his spine.

The next morning he who had passed under the name of Denico stood with Mrs. Varian in her sitting room before an open log fire.

"There are our letters," he said. "Why all women who are indiscreet instead of a very few don't get caught I don't know. The way women carry their belongings would wreck a man every day of his life."

She seized the letters and threw them in the flame.

"That's the end of letter writing," she said. "Hereafter we'll talk what we have to say."

A WORKMAN'S AWFUL FALL

How He Miraculously Escaped Death In a Collapsed Skyscraper.

To fall ten stories and live is an experience vouchsafed to few men, yet Frank Weismuller of Brooklyn dropped 117 feet in the recent Hotel Darlington disaster in New York and escaped with a black eye, a lacerated finger and some slight bruises. Not a bone was broken.

"It was a miracle, that's all," said Weismuller a day or two after the disaster.

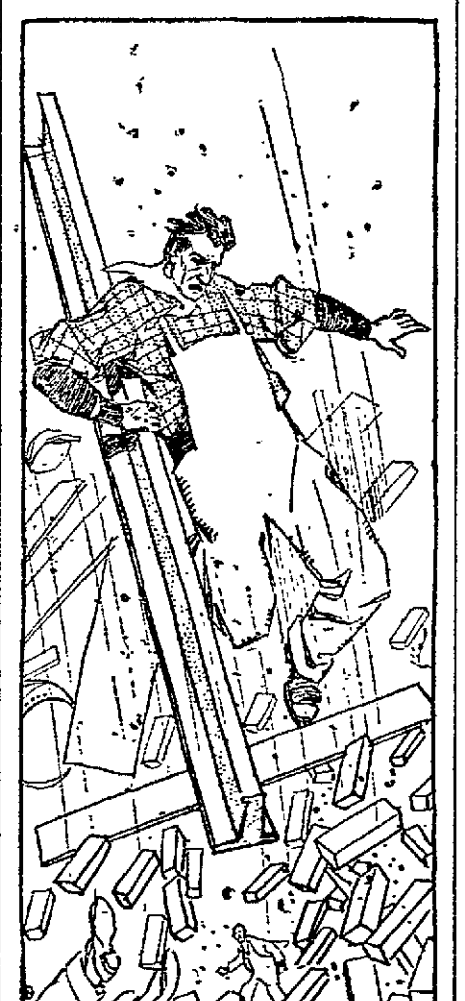

"I am a steamfitter, you know. Well, I was up there on the tenth floor with my foreman. I was hard at work when suddenly I experienced a sensation I can hardly find words to describe. I don't remember any noise before it, but the floor seemed to rise up under my feet, then it slipped away again. It was just as if I was on a huge wave. At first I did not know what to make of it. Then suddenly the thought flashed through my mind: 'Something has happened. The building is falling.'"

"I waited for the floor to rise again. Of course it was only a fraction of an instant, but it seemed an age. The floor did not rise, and I realized that I was sinking. I remember clutching at something to stay my fall. Whether I caught it I cannot say.

"To tell of everything I thought of in the few seconds I must have been falling would fill a book. Over and above every other thing came the thought: 'You are dead.' That kept ringing in my ears: 'You are dead. You are dead.' And then I fell to wondering if this really was death. Everything seemed so quiet and so strange. I wondered where I was, where the rest of the workmen were and what would happen next.

"Then, quick as a wink, a thought of my boyhood flashed through my mind. I was back in Germany, in the town where I was born, and I could see with my boy, playing as I could see with the other boys. I could see every one of my old friends as clearly as I see you.

"Again I thought, 'You are dead.' I could see myself laid out for burial, and there was the coffin. The face in it looked some like me, but I was not positive on that point. I saw the clergyman and had a confused idea of a service going on. Then suddenly I was being lowered into the grave. I felt myself going down faster and faster. I knew there was something wrong. They would never let a body down like that at a burial, something told me. Something was wrong. The straps beneath the coffin had broken. I tried to shout to them to stop, but I could not utter a sound. That settled it in my mind. I was dead, sure enough. Down and still down I went, faster and faster. Then suddenly I stopped. A crash sounded faintly in my ears. It seemed as if every muscle in my body was being torn out. Then pains shot through me. It was as if a million pins had been driven into me at once. Some dirt fell in my face. I spat it out of my mouth. Then I opened my eyes. I can remember catching a glimpse of my partner beneath the girders about twenty feet below me, and then I lost consciousness.

"All of my pain left me. Then I felt myself being dragged along and lifted. I did not know what had happened then, but I learned later that I was picked up by a fireman.

"Do you know what I think? Well, my idea is that I rode down that drop of 117 feet on one of those great iron beams that were falling all about me! As I told you, I have a faint notion that I caught hold of something when I felt myself falling. I can't remember for the life of me what it was, but I have a faint idea that it was one of the big iron beams or girders. One of those girders in its fall scraped down the side of the Hotel Patterson, tearing off the fire escape on its way down. The collision with the Hotel Patterson broke the force of the fall, but the wonder is if I was on the beam I was not knocked off. I know that when I struck the bottom I landed on my feet and I was thrown heavily. Had I landed on my head I must surely have been killed."

THE TREASURE OF A WRECK

[Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.]

In the year 1862, while serving on board a man-of-war in the Federal navy, I had a chum named Adams, who had been a sailor. He was killed a year later, but meanwhile had told me a strange story of a treasure wreck on Kerguelen Island. After his death and the end of the war I verified his story in part, and that brought about the organization of a treasure company. This company was composed of six men, all of whom had served in the navy, and our capital was the pay and prize money due us at the close of the war.

We bought from the government the bark Racer, which was captured off Wilmington in the last days of the blockade runners, and she was fitted out for the voyage at Charleston. We engaged twelve negro sailors for the voyage, making, with the officers, cook and steward, twenty men. We took on board shovels, picks, axes, jack-screws, powder and fuse and whatever we might need in cleaning out a hulk, together with lumber to build us a house ashore, and we cleared for Sydney at the custom house. The six of us had put in every dollar we could raise, and there was just $120 in the common purse when we sailed away. All of us believed in the treasure, however, and the craft was well supplied with provisions.

It was a long voyage, without incident to interest. Our first and only stop was at the Cape for fresh water. One day, months after leaving Charleston, the island of Kerguelen rose up out of the sea before us. We gave three cheers and brought up in a sheltered bay on the north side and soon had a boat in the water to go ashore.

Right there on the beach before our eyes was the treasure wreck Adams had told me of years before. The sight of that battered hull, gray and weather beaten and rotting away, was like coming upon the skeleton of a human being on the great plains. We stood contemplating it for a few minutes and then clambered aboard. The birds were thick about, but not another living thing had visited that shore since Adams paddled away from it on a raft to be picked up 200 miles away. She lay fifty feet above high tide, and we could walk all around her dry shod.

We spent the first day in a cursory examination of the wreck and the island, and on the next we built a shanty with our lumber and unloaded our tools and provisions. On the third day we chopped out her decks above the treasure room and reached the strong-hold.

There were no less than six iron bound boxes and a big steel safe. We got at the safe first. When it had been hoisted on deck and lowered over the side, it was blown open with powder, and we found $300,000 in English gold and notes. There was jewelry to the amount of about $100,000, and this was ticketed with the names of various passengers. In the six boxes, which were all private property, we found about $20,000 in cash and various pieces of jewelry and many papers. Among the latter were deeds of real estate in Australia and England and two commissions belonging to army officers. As fast as we came to private property it was reticketed and laid aside with a view of restoring it to owners or relatives.

Adams had told me that the ship was foundering when driven ashore in a terrible gale, but when we came to get into the hold we found that very little of the cargo had been damaged. We got out thousands of pounds of wool in good condition, together with sufficient tallow, hides and wines to give our craft a fair cargo.

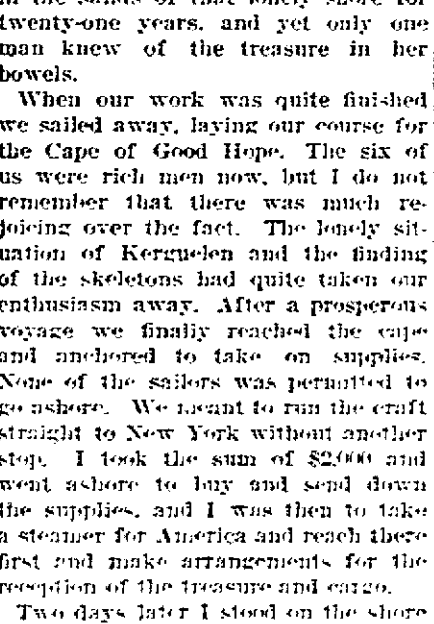

We began finding skeletons as soon as we began work, and from first to last we buried the bones of at least fifty unfortunate passengers, many of them women and children. We found them mostly in the main cabin and the staterooms, and some of the skeletons were buried under four or five feet of hard sand.

We did not find our treasure and get the cargo out of the hulk in a week or a month. On the contrary, we were on the island sixteen full weeks and working hard every day, and when we at last finished our work the wreck was blown up, and the next high tide carried all that was left of her out to sea. She had rested there in the sands of that lonely shore for twenty-one years, and yet only one man knew of the treasure in her bowels.

When our work was quite finished we sailed away, laying our course for the Cape of Good Hope. The six of us were rich men now, but I do not remember that there was much rejoicing over the fact. The lonely situation of Kerguelen and the finding of the skeletons had quite taken our enthusiasm away. After a prosperous voyage we finally reached the cape and anchored to take on supplies. None of the sailors was permitted to go ashore. We meant to run the craft straight to New York without another stop. I took the sum of $2,000 and went ashore to buy and send down the supplies, and I was then to take a steamer for America and reach there first and make arrangements for the reception of the treasure and cargo.

Two days later I stood on the shore and saw our bark sail away with a fair wind. She was spoken two days later, but that was the end. From that day on she has never been heard of. The blacks know of the treasure, of course, and they may have murdered and taken possession. The bark may have foundered or burned or been driven ashore on the African coast. It is thirty-two years since she sailed away from the cape, and no man can more than guess her fate.

Hard to Understand.

In the Midland hotel, and several others here, too, for that matter, the parlor rooms are marked by letters instead of by numbers. This led to a funny mixup last night in the Midland's elevator between the rather deaf negro operator and a testy traveler who was in a hurry to get to bed. This man had been assigned to parlor U, and he started in the elevator for it. As he entered he said:

"U." The Senegambian, not hearing well, looked at him for further remarks, but none came. The elevator went on up, and the darky turned to the traveler and asked:

"What floah, boss?"

"U," the man answered again.

"Yasser, dar's me, but whah you want to go?"

"U! U!" the man repeated testily. "Can't you hear?"

"Yasser! Airldone said dat am me!" began the negro.

Then the man found his senses and said:

"I want to go to parlor U; can't you understand?"

The negro took him back five floors and dumped him out.

"Nevah could understan' some folks," was all he said.—Kansas City Journal.

A Concise Charge.

During the "reconstruction period" a colored gentleman was elected a justice of the peace in the backwoods of South Carolina. His first case happened to be one in which the defendant asked for trial by jury. When the testimony was in and the arguments had been concluded, the lawyers waited for the judge to proceed with his instructions to the jury. The judge seemed somewhat embarrassed. Finally one of the lawyers whispered to him that it was time for him to charge the jury. Looking warily at the jury, with a grim judicial air, the judge said:

"Gentlemen uv de judge, sense dis is a small case, I'll jes' charge y'all a dollar an' a half apiece."—Lippincott's Magazine.

"Also," continued the portly lady who was delivering a lecture on the duties of the model wife before the women's club, "we should always greet our husbands with a kiss when they come home. Now, will one of my auditors tell the underlying principle of this?"

"It's the surest way to catch 'em if they've been drinking," she says with a knowing nod.—Judge.

Anniversary Observed.

One of the most interesting events of the kind that has probably ever occurred in Licking county, was the celebration today at Outville of the 64th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilcox.

This remarkable couple were married on April 19, 1840, and for 14 years more than half a century have continued to live happily together on the same farm, which, as bride and groom, they began their married life.

The celebration Tuesday was not an elaborate function, but many relatives from Columbus, Newark and other nearby points were present, and some attended from a distance including Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Beecher of St. Louis, the former being a nephew of Mrs. Wilcox, while Mrs. G. J. George, a daughter, was the only one of the children present except Mr. Zina Wilcox, the son, with whom the venerable couple make their home. Mrs. George lives in Springfield, Ill. The other children are George, Roswell and Charles Wilcox, who live in Missouri, and could not be present at the celebration.

Mr. J. C. Wilcox is 55 years of age, while his wife is nearing 80, their wedding taking place when he was 21 and she 16. For years Mr. Wilcox was actively engaged in farming, and while now living a quiet life with his son, Zina, it has only been a short time since he laid down the active duties of a busy farmer's life. Both are hale and hearty and have so lived in the sunshine of happiness, that their years set easily upon them, and today they have demonstrated to the younger generations that surrounded them, that in living simply, honestly and happily, lies the true secret of growing old gracefully.

Congratulations were showered upon the couple and the fervent wish expressed by all those present that it might be vouchsafed to them to see many more anniversaries of their happy wedding day.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Anglin, of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at Hall's Drug Store.

BISHOP

Pays a Visit to Newark and is Taken Through Wehrle Plant by Father O'Boylan.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Hartley was the guest of Father O'Boylan yesterday. The latter drove him all over the city. They visited the Wehrle foundry, where Mr. William Wehrle showed them through the immense building. The Bishop was much pleased with his visit and returned home on the B. & O. at 5:15 p. m. Father O'Boylan is about to make some important changes in his parish and it was for this reason he invited the Rt. Rev. Bishop to visit his parish and see its growth.

GRAND COUNCIL

Royal Arcanum Meets at Columbus Tomorrow in Annual Session—A Contest On.

Columbus, April 19.—Tomorrow morning at 9:30 a. m. the grand council of the Royal Arcanum will assemble in the K. of P. castle hall, corner Main and Third streets. Grand Regent W. L. Keessdall of Cleveland, will preside. Headquarters of the grand officers and representatives will be at the Great Southern hotel.

The session will continue two days and the election of grand officers will occur Thursday morning and is likely to be more than usually exciting owing to their being, for supreme representatives and one or two of the higher official stations, several candidates who are ambitious for the honor. An interesting feature of the session will be the admission of a large class of candidates to the number of over a hundred which will occur on Wednesday evening in the presence of the grand officers and representatives and members of the local councils in Columbus at the K. of P. castle hall. Grand Secretary Lucien Seymour of Cleveland, has arrived and will remain until after the close of the session.

HOLY NAME

Societies to be Organized in All the Catholic Parishes—Bishop Wants All Churches to Have Schools.

Columbus, April 19.—A Holy Name society will be organized in every Catholic parish, not only in the city of Columbus, but also in the whole diocese, if pastor and parishioner are willing to comply with the wishes of Rt. Rev. James J. Hartley.

The Bishop after the confirmation services at St. Vincent's church, expressed the desire that more societies be established in the different churches, and made a special plea for societies for men. The Holy Name society was the one recommended, because of its laudable object, which is to put a stop to profane and vulgar language and also because it is a society which has received special recognition from the present pope, Pius X.

Bishop Hartley emphasized his attitude on the school question. "A church without a school," he said, "is like a home without a mother." He hopes soon to see a parochial school in every parish in the diocese.

The bishop said that he intended to urge these two things in every church in his province, and in addition, the cultivation of more dignified means of relieving churches of indebtedness.
